Louisville Jammed For Running Today Of Classic Derby

25 Horses Entered on Eve of Race, But Hardly More Than Score Will Face Barrier Today.

QUATRAIN FAVORED

ed by Weather Man.

CLOUDY AND RAINY,
SAYS WEATHER MAN

Louisville, Ky., May 15.—Derby day, tomorrow, will be cloudy and rainy, according to a weather forecast issued by the weather bureau here tonight. There is a possibility that the rain will hold off until after the running of the big event, it was said. The rain will be followed by cooler weather.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Louisville, Ky., May 15.—Louisville turned in between horse blankets and whiskered in its sleep Friday night,
for there were still about 25 horses left in the Derby list and the entire population, both the floating element and those who are permanently anchored in this pleasant haven on the Ohio river, seemed to regard it as their duty to name the one that will feel best, run best and get the best break of the luck Saturday afternoon.
Louisville is no cow camp standing knee deep in its own mud, but there was something vaguely reminiscent of Shelby, Mont., about the town as evening came on and the floating population drifted in over the roads and railroads, which write through the valleys between Blue Grass hills, or came drumming down out of the sky on canvas wings or drifted to the wharves on shallow belled Ohio river paddleboats. The game sport writer, the gate crashers, and gypsy fighters who follow the sport racket everywhere were holding up lampposts or lobby pillars or fertilizing the potted palms in the public rooms of the hotels with their cigar ashes when roll-call was held on the evening before the Derby race.

Hotels Are Swamped.

The hotels were on the point of selling beds on the billiard table again, as they did in 1921 when the great avalanche came down on the town to see Bradley's "other horse," named Behave Yourself, a steed with the reputation of a skate, nose out of his starred favorite, Black Servant, for the $50,000 prize, to Bradley's vast regret. Bradley had wagered lavishly on Black Servant at odds as long as a fireman's dream, and was just about to win more gold than the horse could haul in a ball-bearing cart, when Behave Yourself came along from behind, took the pace away from Black Servant and won the Kentucky Derby. Although Charlie
Thompson, the boy who rode the rude mannered winner, had lost money for him, Bradley was glad to be a derby winner and gave him $5,000 anyway.

Down in the railroad yards, where switch engines as ugly as hogs were clanking and grunting about their night job of sorting the traffic, the financial royalty of America by napping in real beds aboard their private cars on which they had come from Washington, New York, Baltimore,
Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis.

Old Mansions Entertained.
In the old mansions of the city and far out in hills, Derby night was an occasion of social splendor, and crystal chandeliers which flung the glint of Kentucky's society before the Civil War now twinkled again as the descendants of the old barons made as merry as possible under the circumstances, one may assert upon information and belief, are very arid, indeed.

The derby horses were in the straw
in their stalls at Churchill Downs, watched over, in such dreams as young members of the blood may have, by vigilant roundsmen with sawed-off billiard cues and lanterns, or by individual boys who sat flitted back against the barns on inverted buckets while the night away. It was a gentle, benevolent night, the sort that Kentuckians probably have

New York, May 15.—Consternation on Times Square. A lady's high heel has become stuck in the car tracks.
The multitude grows till police reserves have to be called out. Traffic is stalled and the air is black with yells from taxi drivers. Street cars clang and jerk to a halt.

A big cop jukes on the lady. The shoe stays stuck. Advice plenty. Finally the cop decides: "We'll take your shoe off." But the lady objects and even fights back when the policeman stoops down. The woman says she will not be humiliated. Finally the guards of law and order remove the shoe forcibly.

The lady limps to the sidewalk, five pink toes peeking out of a black stocking. A street car crunches the shoe into a shapeless mass.

Tom Mix came back from this triumphal tour in Europe. He is rid of 47 out of the 48 hats he took with him. If you hear of the Lord Mayor of London or the president of France whooping it up in good cowboy style, you'll know Tom's big sombrero are responsible.

Coney Island is drawing its hundreds of thousands each Sunday and Saturday, but I did not notice any great rush for the water. Of course, there are always heroic spirits brave and unafraid, who fear no foe and who take their dip even in midwinter. But they are generally physical culture teachers and the like. The common herd still stands loving from afar.
The ocean is still a little too zippy and the wintry breeze that blows a little too zesty.

This does not prevent the girls
from wearing their bathing suits.
The colors this year are even lighter than previous seasons. I would say they are a combination of Tut-Ank-Amen, checker-board design, and Chinese kimonos. A riot.

Down on Second avenue you will suddenly see a crowd gathering around a young man. The fellow is a bundle of silk stockings or a large piece of fine silk and he sells far below current market prices. It all goes with feverish quickness and snappy words.

All at once the traveling merchant will grab his wares and decamp. That is the moment he spots a policeman coming in his direction. One of the

MEDAL IS GIVEN TO MISS BERRY FOR HER WORK

President Coolidge Presents Roosevelt Token to Georgia Woman in White House Ceremony.

HIGHEST PRAISE
IS GIVEN TO HER

James R. Garfield Also Lauds Her Educational Work Among Mountain
Children of South.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—In the presence of a distinguished assembly which included cabinet officials, General Pershing and members of the faculty of the school which she founded in Georgia, Miss Martha Berry was presented today by President Coolidge with a medal awarded her by the Roosevelt Memorial association for her welfare work among women and children in the southern Appalachian mountains.

The ceremony took place in the east room of the white house. Miss Berry was one of the recipients of the medals, the others being Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, and George Bird Grinnell, of New York, an editor and publisher.

Paying tribute to the work done by Miss Berry, founder of the Berry schools, President Coolidge said:

Remarks of Coolidge.
"I know the gentlemen who have been awarded the other two medals will not misunderstand me when I say that, greatly as Theodore Roosevelt would be gratified if he could see a distinction bearing his name bestowed upon these old friends, he would yet be most stirred to see this Roosevelt medal bestowed upon you. He believed in you and your work and it was characteristic of him that, believing in you, he should have upheld your hand and done
what he could to win you friends.

"In building out of nothing a great educational institution for the children of the mountains, you have contributed to your time one of its most creative achievements. Because of you, thousands have been released from the bondage of ignorance and countless other thousands in the generations to come will walk not in darkness, but in the light. You have built your school by faith—faith in your vision, faith in God who alone can make vision substantial."

Tribute of Garfield.

Miss Berry's name was presented by James R. Garfield, president of the Roosevelt Memorial association, who paid her the following tribute:
"For the medal for distinguished service in behalf of women and children, I have the honor to present the name of one who, seeing a great need, turned from the pleasant places in which her line was cast to bring light and opportunity to children, who, but for her, would have walked all their lives in the shadow of ignorance. A dreamer whose visions were born in human sympathy and given substance by the magical touch of faith; an educator who trains equal heart and hand, and the head, and the heart; a builder, who builds on rock, creating beauty where she goes, scarce knowing that she creates it, so natural an expression
it is of the abundance within."

Miss Berry is the second woman to be awarded the Roosevelt medal since its establishment in 1923. The first woman to receive it was Miss Louise Lee Schuyler, also for the promotion of the welfare of women and children.
By special invitation of Mr. Garfield, Bertha Hackett, Jessie Ross, Inez Wooten, Grady Hamrick and G.
Keown were present as representatives of the Berry school pupils and faculty.

BRIBE FEE CHARGE IS DENIED BY DAVIS

Ex-Governor of Kansas Admits Needing Money; Talked Over Parole for Prisoner, He Says.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Topeka, Kan., May 15.—Jonathan
M. Davis spent two hours on the witness stand this afternoon denying charges that he had accepted or even solicited bribes in exchange for pardons while he was governor of Kansas.

The farmer, who less than a year ago was a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, turned to the 12 men who will decide whether he is guilty of seeking a bribe in exchange for a pardon for Walter Grundy, and said: "Gentlemen, I tell you that I issued every pardon in good faith."

Court adjourned late today until Monday morning, when Davis will be recalled for further examination.
The former governor branded as false parts of the testimony of Anthony L. Oswald, the state's star witness, and a young Hutchinson lawyer, who sought a pardon for Grundy, convicted Hutchinson bank president,
the challenged particularly the story that Oswald had said: "Well, the

Jett Proposes Bloodhound Brigade To Chase Robbers

Residents in the vicinity of the Chattahoochee river next winter may enjoy numerous impromptu and modernized duplications for Eliza struggling her stuff on the ice, if plans of Chief of Police Jett to employ blood-hounds to chase down bold, bad bandits is not in effect.

The chief Friday announced his intention of "swearing in" a pack of sleuth hounds and detailing a special squad of "bandit-chasers" to fraternize with them; but as yet the plans are only tentative, and their materialization is scheduled in the ordinary routine of police activities for about the time of ice late this year.

Chief Jett's idea concerning the "lawgus" was announced close on the heels of two of the most daring "stick-ups" that sophisticated Atlanta which has late adopted the attitude of stubbornly carrying on business as usual despite their activities
—has yet known. The criminal fraternity engaged in a merry game of "hide and seek" with the police threw in for good measure burglary of two Atlanta homes, a garage and a soda fountain.

Chief Jett stated that he would discuss his plan at once with Captain A.
J. Holcombe and Lieutenant W. H.
Andrews, of the plain clothes department, and the uniformed captain of the three different watches—Grover
C. Fain, W. F. Terry and J. L. Gordon.

Of course, dogs would be of no value when bandits escape by means of an automobile, as was the case in the holdup Friday afternoon of two branch stores of L. L. Groceries company—one at 130 Cherokee avenue, and the other at 740
Edgewood avenue.

At first store, which was robbed
by a lone bandit at 12:05 o'clock Friday afternoon, the robber, after forcing the manager, C. A. Archer, of

RUM SHIP NABBED NEAR PALM BEACH

Battered by Terrific Seas, Vessel Calls for Help;
Is Towed to Miami by Coast Guard Captors.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Miami, Fla., May 15.—Disabled in terrific seas, a large speedy rum boat was captured Thursday night off Palm Beach by coast guard cutter No. 294, from Miami, after her skipper had hailed a passing tug boat for help.
The captured vessel was towed to Miami early this morning.

Coast guardmen had been informed of the plight of the rum runner, but were unable to find it until the ocean tug, Leader, en route from Morehead, S. C., to Miami, went to the rescue. A hawser had been made fast to the tug boat and the rum skipper was lifting his anchor when the patrol boat appeared. Officers boarded and took charge of the vessel immediately and towed it down the coast to Miami.

According to the captain of the tug,
the rum vessel was wallowing helplessly in the breakers about two miles off shore with a stalled engine when the master of the boat signalled distress. As only one man was aboard the captured boat and only a part of a cargo of liquor was found, it is believed the craft was being unloaded
when the squal arose.

This is said to be the first capture of liquor craft in east Florida waters since the beginning of the rum war in the north.

Tired of Both Husbands, Says Wife in Suing No. 2

Wonderful things have been seen on Peachtree street ever since Mr.
Sherman staged his little torch-light party back in the sixties—as corner lizards of this and past generations will attest.

But when a "widow"—married a second time—encounters her "dead"
first husband in the fashion parade,
that's carrying sight-seeing a bit too far.

With the result that Mrs. Ouida Lillian Price-Gassett, young Atlanta woman who has found herself the central figure in a weird matrimonial melodrama, has laid her troubles at the feet of Fulton superior court judges and is asking annulment of her marriage to a man she wedded after being wrongly informed that her "first" husband had been killed in the world war.

Husband No. 1 is Charles E.
Price, Atlanta soldier reported dead,
whom Mrs. Jassett and husband No.
2—Albert W. Gassett, also of Atlanta—encountered recently strolling carelessly down Peachtree street.

Mrs. Price-Gassett and Price were wedded in 1918, but after several months they found that love had flown and agreed it was best to separate. Price joined the field artillery.
In France, the story goes, he persuaded a close friend of his outfit to write to his wife and tell her he was dead.

After a whirlwind courtship, the young "widow" changed her name to

Mother of New Orleans College Professor Finds Bodies of Son and Family in Bathroom of Home.

PUPILS TELL TALE OF 'QUEER' ACTIONS

Neighbors Hear Stories of How Instructor Was 'Hounded' by Relatives
in Milwaukee.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New Orleans, May 15.—Mrs. George Williams Peckham, of Milwaukee, Wis., came to New Orleans today in response to a telephone message for help and on entering the home of her son, George Williams Peckham, found him, his wife and two children
lying shot to death in the bathroom.

Two policemen who broke down the front door of the tightly sealed apartment across the street from Sophie Newcomb college, where the dead man was an assistant professor of philosophy, said he had been troubled for several weeks with hallucinations that mysterious persons were hounding him. Neighbors told the corner of windows nailed down and made opaque with paper, and of nightly searches around the yard by the professor carrying a pistol and a flashlight.

Triple Murder Verdict.

The coroner decided that the tragedy was a case of a triple murder and suicide and expressed the belief that a formal inquest would not be necessary. The elder Mrs. Peckham was in the care of friends of the professor tonight, in a state of collapse, but police gleaned from her that an inheritance suit which Dr. Peckham had been telling neighbors about for several weeks had been settled and she affirmed that there was no reason to believe that he had been spied upon by mysterious men and women.

Neighbors had heard stories that Dr. Peckham had been "hounded" by relatives in Milwaukee and Philadelphia, was involved in a law suit in New York city and had been a witness in a divorce case in Milwaukee that had given him great annoyance
on account of the consequent publicity.

His mother said she knew nothing of this. On Wednesday night her son's wife telephoned her to come as soon as she could, explaining that Dr. Peckham was ill and she feared he would die. The mother collapsed in a policeman's arms today as she entered the bathroom and saw the four bodies huddled on the floor and spattered with blood.

Mysterious Woman.
Captain William Peterson, of the Ninth Police precinct, one of those called by the aged mother when she was unable to gain admittance to the apartment, said that for a week
he had been receiving complaints from Dr. Martin Peckham, a professor at Newcomb, said he had been keeping Dr. Peckham under observation for a week or more, and Mrs. George French, neighbor, told of how the man had searched the yard around the apartment house at night with

POLICE SUSPENDED IN WAR ON GRAFT

Secret Probe Expected to Cause Drastic Shakeup
in Philadelphia Police Department.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—Ten policemen, including an acting captain, were suspended Friday night as Brigadier General Smedley Butler, director of police, opened a war on craft which is expected to affect hundreds of patrolmen and cause the most drastic police shakeup in Philadelphia's history.

Twenty-nine others, all from a single station house, are expected mon-mentarily to be relieved from duty.
Scores more transfers, demotions and suspensions, it is predicted, will follow within the next week.

The shakeup has been precipitated by charges of graft and laziness in connection with smuggling of beer
from a "quarantine" brewery here.
On the report of a "mystery squad" appointed by Butler to investigate police activity in liquor and vice suppression, 39 were ordered suspended, but in many cases identity of the accused patrolmen has not been established. Members of the squad were attending roll calls in several station houses tonight, picking out men recognized as having been seen loading beer on brewery trucks, accepting bribes from brewery officials and acting as lookouts for the smuggling of illegal beer from the planet of the Fred Fied brewery.

"We'll get action soon," said Butler. "Look out for an explosion
any day, but for three years
I've been playing a quiet game of late, but I'm going to smash this graft game in every district in the city."

BAPTISTS DECLINE TO TAKE ANY PART IN CONTROL OF 'Y'

Upshaw Leads Movement
To Affiliate Church
With 'Y' Movement; Heated Discussion Arises

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Memphis, Tenn., May 15.—The Southern Baptist convention, in session here, late today declined to accept a recommendation of its executive committee that the convention participate in the interdenominational control of the Y. M. C. A.

The recommendation was struck from the report, after discussion as lengthy and varied as that which preceded adoption of the declaration of faith and message.

Adoption of the report would have committed the convention to appoint a committee of three to confer with leaders of the 13 denominations now associated with the Y. M. C. A. One of the committee would have met annually with the organization's committee, and all reports of its activities would thereafter be presentable to the Baptist convention.

Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, led those opposing the participation. He declared that it would be an entering wedge for entangling alliances with other denominations, and therefore contrary to the Baptist principle.

Upshaw Favors Move.
Proponents of the measure, led by Dr. Henry A. Porter, St. Louis, and Congressman W. D. Upshaw, Atlanta, contended that affiliation with the movement would tend to strengthen the Y. M. C. A.'s fight for evangelical religion, and would aid in changing its policies along the right lines.

After a heated discussion, during which it was suggested that the matter be referred to the committee for another year's deliberations, the convention voted to strike the clause
from the committee's report.

The committee also was defeated in its recommendation to supply the convention's four educational institutions with funds direct from states which collected, when the convention voted to let its education board to continue to disburse these funds.

Evolution Theory.
An atmosphere suggesting further discussion of the theory of evolution formed today, but was dispelled when the convention adopted resolutions declaring that not one paragraph, sentence or word of the declaration of faith and message was to be construed as an endorsement of the evolution theory.

The Rev. M. A. Phillips, Texas, was author of the resolutions. They urged the convention to so express its belief because, it was suggested, the convention's action was being interpreted as an endorsement of the theory.

FORD ABANDONS RADIO ON RAILROAD BECAUSE OF STATIC

Columbus, Ohio, May 15.—Statis
has proved to be too much for Henry Ford, just as it has for less renowned radio users.

Ford has decided to abandon the use of radio in connection with his Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, and the reason for the change has been too much static to make it possible to communicate with the stations frequently garbled by the railroad's messages.

For the transmission of train orders Ford's road has used the ordinary telephone, but for three years messages regarding freight shipments and other business have been sent through the air.

End Came Suddenly as

HEADED DIVISION
DURING CIVIL WAR

Greatest Sorrow of Life
Was, Despite Advanced Age, He Could Not Take Part in World War.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, May 15.—Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, mentor of American army leaders, premier Indian fighter, diplomat and author, has taken the long trail.

His career, spanning four of the six important military periods of his country's history, ended suddenly late today in the big tent of a circus just as a fanfare of trumpets announced
the opening pageant.

General Miles was surrounded by happy children, including those of his own family's third generation, excited over the prospect of witnessing reproduction of scenes which, in their actuality, had occupied so important a phase of his own life.

Dies in Arms of Doctor.

Turning to Mrs. W. B. Noble, mother of his daughter-in-law, the general complained that he felt ill.
Before help could be summoned, he collapsed into the arms of Dr. A. E.
Craig, sitting directly behind him.
The body was removed underneath
the tier of seats, to the outside, where a hasty examination resulted in the diagnosis that death had resulted from myocarditis and acute dilation of the heart.

Despite his advanced years—86—
the death of General Miles came as an extreme shock to his intimate associates. During the 20 years which have elapsed since he was retired for age, he had maintained an active interest in current affairs, particularly those which touched either the army or navy. Any incident affecting either service was a matter of immediate personal interest to the veteran soldier.

Apparently in Good Health.
There was no outward indication of a change in his uncommonly robust health when he announced today his intention of accompanying his grandchildren on their international circus jaunt.

Arriving at the show grounds, he gaily greeted one of the proprietors whom he had known for years, with the remark that he intended never to miss a performance.

General Miles was present when General Miles collapsed, but was seated some distance from him, and as was the case with most of the audience, failed to recognize the crumpled
tenderly away. The excitement in that vicinity lulled quickly, and the circus program was resumed after a brief pause. As the acrobats tumbled and the clowns grimaced, however,
the wires were carrying news of the warrior's passing far and wide, even to the western reservations where waited a few aged men of Indian tribes whom he fought grimly but fairly,
through so many campaigns.

Funeral Awaits Children.
Plans for the funeral services are expected to await the return of General Miles' son, Major Sherman Miles, who is returning on the Leviathan from a long tour of duty with the American high seas commission at Constantinople, and of the daughter.

ATLANTA INSPECTED BY EDUCATION CHIEF

Inspection of Atlanta hotel facilities and other facilities for handling large conventions was begun Friday by Dr. S. D. Shankland, of Washington.

DR. S. D. SHANKLAND.

ton, D. C., executive secretary of the National Education association in connection with the proposal that the annual convention of the association for 1926 be held here in February. Dr. Shankland stated Friday that he would make a thorough inspection of Atlanta facilities for handling a large convention before he would be able to give any indication as to the result of his visit.

Some of the leading educators in the state met Dr. Shankland Friday and piloted him over the city. Among those who conferred with him were Dr. N. H. Bellard, state superintendent of schools; Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and Professor Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools.

Officials of the Atlanta convention bureau headed by Colonel F. J. Paxson and Will V. Zimmer, representing the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, furnished Dr. Shankland with all available information concerning the number of available hotel rooms and rates. He was taken to the auditorium where he inspected the main auditorium and the exhibition halls.

Friday afternoon Dr. Shankland was taken to Stone Mountain and other points of interest on a sight-seeing trip. He was entertained at a luncheon at the Billmore hotel as the guest of W. C. Royer, associate manager and was tendered a dinner at the Woman's club Friday night by the Atlanta Teachers' association. He will leave for Washington this afternoon.

Facilities Adequate.
While refraining from expressing an opinion as to whether or not Atlanta would be likely to secure the 1926 meeting, stating that the question is a matter to be decided by the executive committee of the association, Dr. Shankland, after a day spent looking over the hotel, assembly hall and exhibit space here, said he felt the facilities adequate for the association's needs.

"I find conditions here for handling our meeting considerably improved over what they were two years ago when I was here looking over the field," said Dr. Shankland. "There are more than 1,700 additional hotel rooms than I found at that time, and that is one of our chief requirements. Even with this additional space, our convention would require practically all the hotel rooms in the city." Hotel accommodations will be Atlanta's chief handicap in the bid for the convention, in the opinion of Dr. Shankland.

The visitor stated that he found auditorium space ample. Exhibit space, while not exactly all that the convention might wish, yet would be adequate to its needs. There are usually about 600 exhibitors at the Department's conventions, representing manufacturers of all lines of school equipment. These exhibitors form a very important part of the convention, it is stated, and from the standpoint of exhibit space Atlanta stands about an equal chance with some of the other cities bidding for the convention.

Rome, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Italian chamber of deputies today passed a bill granting women the right to vote in municipal elections.

Passage of the bill referred to is considered the first step toward universal woman's suffrage for all Italian elections, and its passage undoubtedly was due largely to the unqualified approval of Premier Mussolini. Nine such bills have been submitted to the Italian parliament

EIGHT INDICTED IN MURDER CASES

Eight indictments charging first-degree murder were returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury in one of the busiest days ever spent by that body. Other indictments charging lesser offenses also were returned.

The only indictment charging murder to be returned against a white person was the one against C. S. Benton, who is said to have shot and killed his wife and then attempted to kill his own head in an effort to end his own life.

El. A. Barnwell was indicted on charges of larceny of an automobile. Ralph Trussell, alias W. M. Walker, was indicted on two counts charging larceny from the house in connection with the theft of two suitcases from the Terminal station of Atlanta. On May 8, James N. Miller lost a suitcase valued at $500, and on May 11, W. M. Weaver lost one valued at $75. Trussell is charged with taking both.

Dr. R. H. Hood and S. H. Chitwood were charged jointly in an indictment with performing an illegal operation.

The indictments charging murder cover several, which have been pending for the past five months. This is a record for Fulton county and is believed to be for the entire state.

BOAT COCKTAIL'S BODY RECOVERED

Memphis, Tenn., May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The body of Jack Cochran, 28, engineer of the steamer M. E. Norman, which sank in the Mississippi river 16 miles below Memphis last Friday, was recovered late today at the government pier plant seven miles below the scene of the disaster.

Cochran was credited with having saved the lives of many by turning off the oil supply to the motors of the oil-burning vessel shortly before it capsized. This action is said to have prevented an explosion.

His body was recovered near the point where searchers found the body of Earl Simonson, fireman. Cochran was seen fighting for his life in the river by survivors of the disaster.

The recovery of Cochran's body brought the total found to five. Eighteen other persons are missing. Army engineers are working to blast the hull of the Norman with dynamite, in an effort to cause any bodies which might have been imprisoned to float to the surface. Army engineers in charge said that the steel hull is all that remains of the vessel. It was not moved by the explosions.

Cotton Association Appeal Boards Get Federal Approval

Washington, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The attorney general has issued an opinion affirming the authority of the secretary of the cotton association to appoint members of the appeal boards of foreign cotton associations as representatives of the United States in disputes over the classification of cotton sold in the international trade.

The power of the secretary to appoint foreigners as American representatives on the appeal boards was questioned by the Liverpool Cotton association, during its campaign against adoption of provisions of the cotton standards act.

The attorney general brought out in the opinion that there was no general statutory prohibition against the employment of aliens in the service of the United States.

TEN MAGAZINES BANNED ON STANDS

Washington, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ten popular priced magazines have been ordered withdrawn from sale at news stands here as "obscene and indecent."

District Attorney Gordon, who banned the publications, declared the list furnished a preliminary order, adding that 40 more magazines were on his desk awaiting examination.

The district attorney acted as censor at the request of news dealers after prosecution had been threatened in several cases.

Prince of Wales Is Shown Snake Park in South Africa

BY G. WARD PRICE. (Special correspondent of The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Port Elizabeth, Union of South Africa, May 15.—Up to the present time, in his whole tour of Africa, the Prince of Wales has seen nothing so fascinating and gruesome as a snake park which he saw here. His terse comment was, "Tis very like my idea of hell."

The parallel was apt, for there was something very Danteque in the sight of these trees filled with festooned bunches of writhing, part-colored snakes, with their eyes, and each one capable and eager to deal its own form of swift, silent death.

FRENCH WAR HERO BURED AT PARIS

Paris, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—With simple ceremonies the funeral of General Charles Mangin, the hero of Verdun, who died Tuesday, was held here today.

The body was taken from the chapel of the Invalides to the cemetery of Mont Parnassus on the gun carriage of a French field piece. Only a laurel wreath and a single bunch of violets were on the coffin. Three non-commissioned officers, walking beside the gun carriage, carried cushions upon which were placed all the military decorations of the great soldier.

General Joffre, General Petain and many of the highest military officials, government leaders, members of the diplomatic corps and of the American legation, walked in the funeral procession. The general's negro servant walked alone near the gun carriage.

Cardinal Dubois celebrated services in the Chapel of the Invalides. General Petain, in the name of the army, bade farewell to General Mangin, "who so often braved death and who so suddenly has been taken by death from all who loved him."

$50,000 VERDICT WON BY SENATOR IN LIBEL SUIT

Columbia, S. C., May 15.—State Senator J. Duncan McLeod, Jr., has won a verdict of $50,000 in a libel suit against The Columbia Record, local afternoon paper, and Edwin W. Robertson, local banker, by whom the Record was published.

The suit resulted from the publication in the Record on March 11, 1924, of a letter written by Senator Duncan to Robertson early in 1923, asking a loan of $25,000 which, it was said, was refused. The letter was published in the Record with a headline which carried an account of a speech by the senator in the senate in regard to negotiations between the Columbia Record and the State of South Carolina, which Robertson was then president.

CAMERAS BARRED AT SHEPHERD TRIAL BY CHICAGO JUDGE

Chicago, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Cameras, typewriters and telegraph instruments will be barred from the courtroom during the trial of William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of his foster son, William Nelson McClintock. Typewriters and telegraph apparatus will be permitted to be set up in an adjoining room, however.

First steps in the actual preparation of the trial have been taken by Judge Thomas J. Lynch, who has directed that the trial be held in the courtroom of the United States district court building, which four weeks might be expended in selecting jurors and another four weeks in the actual trial.

CARPENTERS STRIKE IN NORTH CAROLINA AFTER WAGE PARLEY

Asheville, N. C., May 15.—Seven hundred union carpenters went on strike here today following inability to agree with employing contractors over a proposed new wage scale. The carpenters make a demand of an increase of pay from $1.25 an hour to $1.50 an hour effective May 1. Contractors insisted the present contracts be carried out under the old scale and agreed to meet the carpenters on July 1. This was declined by the carpenters and following conferences last night voted to call the men off their work this morning.

Three Orlando Men Named in Warrants Charging Assault

Tampa, Fla., May 15.—Direct information today was filed by Tom Waldron, assistant county solicitor, charging assault with intent to kill against three men of the Orlando district. They are Dr. W. L. Simpson, Orlando dentist; H. B. Miles, chief of police, and C. O. Minifie, fern grower. Charges grew out of the assault on E. L. Martin, former county solicitor, of Plant City, last Thursday.

Martin was seized as he left his law office in Plant City Thursday night, placed in an automobile by five men and taken to a point near Orlando, where he alleged his abductors maltreated him. A warning never to return to Plant City was ignored, Martin fled back to his home several days ago.

AQUATIC STAR SUES FOR USE OF NAME

Los Angeles, Cal., May 15.—Annette Kellerman of swimming fame, is the plaintiff in a $20,000 suit on file in the superior court today against the Annette Kellerman Building company. She alleges the defendants have been selling memberships in a country club project by wrongfully using her name. She is not connected with the project in any way, she said, and estimated her reputation has been hurt to the extent of $20,000, the amount she asks as damages.

reasons why the stocking seller departs so hastily because his wares could not be identified as part of some recent burglary lot.

Here and there in the East Side you still find some wondrous emporium where a wax figure of an old dirty wretch is planted in the entrance ready to slip you a card with your fortune on it. All the delights inside may be tasted for one penny.

You can peer into a "megascop" and by turning a handle witness a motion picture labeled: "A kiss in a tunnel" or "Maise, the painter's model." Boys slip coins in an automatic machine and pull the lever to get a photo of a highly decolete burlesque actress.

The shooting gallery at the end still has the kaiser as a target. Soldiers try their hand at it. There is a sweet competition, a couple of boxes with glass tops, marked: "For Men Only" a monkey with the face of a sailor, and a box to throw out the street urinals.

There are but one or two of the old-fashioned saloons left in New York. They play in the after-theater traffic around Broadway and Forty-second. The driver wears the highest hat in the London cabby.

When he was hailed the other night by two men, hundreds stopped to look. "Who are they?" "Sherlock Holmes and Watson," somebody in the crowd shout back.

New York loves the foreign touch. Swedish "spisbröd," Dutch cheese, Swiss chocolate, French bon bons, German liverwurst, Russian caviar, Chinese nut, Greek conserves, Polish sausage, Danish pastry, a maitre d'hotel told me: "The American is acquiring a foreign taste. They even like a pinch of garlic in their soup now."

RUM SHIP NABBED NEAR PALM BEACH

rum blockade contemplated on the Gulf coast and the Mississippi river. He will depart tonight for Washington.

Mr. Yellowley on his arrival declined to comment on the prohibition situation.

RUM BLOCKADE BEGINS OVER SOUTH

Gulfport, Miss., May 15.—That waters adjacent to Gulfport, Biloxi, Pass Christian and other points on the Mississippi coast were watched closely for the expected advent of the scattered rum fleet, reported leaving the north Atlantic coast after failure to break the blockade maintained there by the United States coast guard, was the information gained from M. H. Daily, director of federal prohibition forces in Mississippi.

"The Mississippi coast is the greatest rum importing point in the United States," said Daily. "And with the coming of vessels from the Jersey coast, where the coast guard is blocking the rum runners, there seems little doubt that the smuggling fleets will be prepared to meet the situation, by land and by sea, when they do come, and the forces are now thoroughly coordinated for the task before them."

The liquor traffic on the Mississippi coast more than a year ago was estimated to exceed $3,000,000 in annual volume, employing many fast motor boats, numerous automobiles and as many as 1,200 men.

RUM FLEET TO RETURN WITHIN FEW DAYS

New York, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—New York's rum fleet, driven from its anchorage off Sandy Hook coast, is preparing to return to its old position within a few days, coast guardsmen attached to the cutter Seneca and the Yamacraw said today when they put in at Staten island for supplies.

Information filtering through from the few ships that still are playing a waiting game with the dry land guardsmen said, indicated that the return of the fleet, many ships of which scattered yesterday, is scheduled for Monday. Most of the ships that left, they said, were off Hampton Roads or had sailed for Canadian ports to replenish their supplies. If the ships return, however, it was said, they will find the coast guard still vigilant. There are 40 government ships now patrolling rum waters, with 19 in reserve ready to keep tight the blockade.

Two legal blows were struck today in the work of drying up the Atlantic coast. Judge Garin in federal court reaffirmed his previous decision that the $200,000 cargo of the Dutch schooner Zeeland, seized last December, is forfeited to the United States. Its owners contended that it was captured while making for shore in distress.

Captain Lemaitre, of the Lloyd Royal Belge steamship Mercey, on which ship nearly 600 cases of liquor were seized yesterday, today was fined $1,000.

pistol and flashlight and told of a woman, posing as a magazine saleswoman who "hounded" him.

On one night Mrs. Peckham had been declaring a man and woman had broken into their apartment and tried to kidnap one of the children, Mrs. French said. She declared today, however, she believed it was simply a wife's efforts to make neighbors believe the professor had some reason for his strange actions and to "save his face," as people had begun to call him "queer." Many of the girls who were his pupils said he had not been the same in the classroom for several weeks, and of late had continually complained of their stupidity.

FOUR SHOTS FIRED

Police examination of the bathroom in the apartment indicated that every preparation had been made for the tragedy. Only four shots had been necessary for the killing of the four members of the family and two chambers of a revolver lying on the floor still bore cartridges. On a glass shelf in the same room lay another six-chambered revolver still loaded.

The man evidently called in his wife first and shot her through the left temple, inflicting instant death. The two children, George, Jr., aged 2, and Elizabeth, aged 7, also died from bullet wounds through the head temple, and the little baby's body had been found in the bathroom. In the head of the husband and father was a bullet hole through the right temple.

Windows Sealed Shut.

Just when the tragedy was enacted remained under a blanket of night, but physicians said the four had been dead for many hours, and Dr. George Hermann, who occupies the other room in the house, said he had heard a dull noise about 10 o'clock Thursday evening. It was not enough to cause alarm, he added. Sealed doors and locked windows had been in the house for several days, and the sound of the shot, police said.

Dr. Peckham came to New Orleans about two years ago and had an excellent reputation. He was a member of the medical society of New Orleans and his associates only noticed that he had been a "little gum."

He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1900 and continued his studies at the University of Chicago and Harvard. Later he studied abroad, then went to Columbia university where in 1915 he was given the degree of doctor of philosophy. He was a member of the "Logic of Bergson's Philosophy."

BAPTISTS DECLINE IN Y. M. C. A. CONTROL

Copies of the statement of faith will be sent to every Baptist pastor in the south, the convention declared in adopting resolutions adopted by Congressmen Upshaw.

When two-thirds of those attending the morning session rose in response to the reading of the statement of faith, the convention declared that the statement was adopted by the convention of the Y. M. C. A. of the South.

"I feel more at home now," Rev. G. C. Hedgepeth, Marietta, S. C., remarked, after confessing an embarrassment at addressing a "city convention." The Rev. Mr. Hedgepeth for many years has been pastor of a full-time country church.

More religion and a greater spiritual life in the colleges of today will be the salvation of the modern educational process, Dr. M. E. Dodd, Shreveport, La., declared in his address. Dr. Dodd's address was in connection with the report of the interboard commission on student activities.

Other reports heard today, all of which were adopted, were those of the Sunday school board and the daily vacation Bible school department. Dr. M. L. Sedalia, Miss and Howard L. Grace, Nashville, spoke in connection with their presentation.

The executive committee's report was adopted with the exception of the two contested sections. The report which went on record dealt with matters of detail, and minor changes in the constitution.

FOREIGN ACTIVITIES

A total of 1,101 churches now exist in the foreign fields, Dr. J. F. Love, Richmond, reported, and of them 291 are self-supporting. Dr. Love is corresponding secretary of the foreign missions board.

Baptisms numbering 12,134 were administered last year, and results of other foreign activities were gratifying, the report showed, despite the fact that the board has faced, and will face, a situation demanding immediate relief.

The board today faces a debt of a million dollars. Dr. Love reported, and he urged that the board be urged to raise the necessary funds. "We are entering a period of exasperated force more extensive than any time since the days of the apostle Paul, and we must have the support of southern Baptists."

Twenty-three foreign missionaries, home on furlough, sat on the platform at the night session and after the mission's report several addressed the convention.

Mrs. Samuel M. Reber, wife of Major Reber, retired, was visiting friends in New York and left at once for Washington when advised of the general's death. The Leviathan is reported due at New York Sunday.

Interment is expected to be in a mausoleum constructed under the general's personal direction on a gently sloping lawn of Arlington, directly in front of the Lee mansion. The edifice is of white marble, and from its portico can be seen plainly the high walls of the war department, around which was centered so large a part of the general's activities.

SILVERMAN DEAD

Harry Silverman, who was found dead Thursday night in his garage in the rear of his home, 55 Fairview road, came to his death through the accidental discharge of a gun, according to the verdict Friday of a coroner's jury impaneled at the funeral parlors of Greenberg & Bond.

Only two witnesses were questioned. They were Arthur A. Wise, pistol and flashlight and told of a woman, posing as a magazine saleswoman who "hounded" him.

On one night Mrs. Peckham had been declaring a man and woman had broken into their apartment and tried to kidnap one of the children, Mrs. French said. She declared today, however, she believed it was simply a wife's efforts to make neighbors believe the professor had some reason for his strange actions and to "save his face," as people had begun to call him "queer." Many of the girls who were his pupils said he had not been the same in the classroom for several weeks, and of late had continually complained of their stupidity.

Police examination of the bathroom in the apartment indicated that every preparation had been made for the tragedy. Only four shots had been necessary for the killing of the four members of the family and two chambers of a revolver lying on the floor still bore cartridges. On a glass shelf in the same room lay another six-chambered revolver still loaded.

The man evidently called in his wife first and shot her through the left temple, inflicting instant death. The two children, George, Jr., aged 2, and Elizabeth, aged 7, also died from bullet wounds through the head temple, and the little baby's body had been found in the bathroom. In the head of the husband and father was a bullet hole through the right temple.

Windows Sealed Shut.

Just when the tragedy was enacted remained under a blanket of night, but physicians said the four had been dead for many hours, and Dr. George Hermann, who occupies the other room in the house, said he had heard a dull noise about 10 o'clock Thursday evening. It was not enough to cause alarm, he added. Sealed doors and locked windows had been in the house for several days, and the sound of the shot, police said.

Dr. Peckham came to New Orleans about two years ago and had an excellent reputation. He was a member of the medical society of New Orleans and his associates only noticed that he had been a "little gum."

He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1900 and continued his studies at the University of Chicago and Harvard. Later he studied abroad, then went to Columbia university where in 1915 he was given the degree of doctor of philosophy. He was a member of the "Logic of Bergson's Philosophy."

Copies of the statement of faith will be sent to every Baptist pastor in the south, the convention declared in adopting resolutions adopted by Congressmen Upshaw.

When two-thirds of those attending the morning session rose in response to the reading of the statement of faith, the convention declared that the statement was adopted by the convention of the Y. M. C. A. of the South.

"I feel more at home now," Rev. G. C. Hedgepeth, Marietta, S. C., remarked, after confessing an embarrassment at addressing a "city convention." The Rev. Mr. Hedgepeth for many years has been pastor of a full-time country church.

More religion and a greater spiritual life in the colleges of today will be the salvation of the modern educational process, Dr. M. E. Dodd, Shreveport, La., declared in his address. Dr. Dodd's address was in connection with the report of the interboard commission on student activities.

Other reports heard today, all of which were adopted, were those of the Sunday school board and the daily vacation Bible school department. Dr. M. L. Sedalia, Miss and Howard L. Grace, Nashville, spoke in connection with their presentation.

The executive committee's report was adopted with the exception of the two contested sections. The report which went on record dealt with matters of detail, and minor changes in the constitution.

FOREIGN ACTIVITIES

A total of 1,101 churches now exist in the foreign fields, Dr. J. F. Love, Richmond, reported, and of them 291 are self-supporting. Dr. Love is corresponding secretary of the foreign missions board.

Baptisms numbering 12,134 were administered last year, and results of other foreign activities were gratifying, the report showed, despite the fact that the board has faced, and will face, a situation demanding immediate relief.

The board today faces a debt of a million dollars. Dr. Love reported, and he urged that the board be urged to raise the necessary funds. "We are entering a period of exasperated force more extensive than any time since the days of the apostle Paul, and we must have the support of southern Baptists."

The Rev. S. B. Cousins, Virginia, read a report on the board's report, and the convention adopted it by acclamation.

Twenty-three foreign missionaries, home on furlough, sat on the platform at the night session and after the mission's report several addressed the convention.

George Washington, Ulysses Grant, William Sherman, Philip Sheridan and John Schofield.

Indian Fighter.

Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, brilliant Indian fighter and one of the most picturesque and distinguished leaders in American military history, was one of the "boy generals" of the civil war. At the age of 25 he had risen from the rank of first lieutenant to that of major general.

General Miles, who at the peak of his military career was commanding general of the army, was one of the few high ranking officers who had regular establishments to attain his position without West Point training, and also enjoyed the distinction of being among the still smaller group to be honored with the rank of lieutenant general.

From a clerical position in a Boston business house, he entered the army at the age of 22; participated in more than 30 of the severest engagements of the civil war; was four times a point of death from wounds, and emerged from the great struggle the possessor of many enviable citations for bravery and distinguished service.

Continuing in the army, he fought and pursued Indians on the great plains for more than 20 years; led the army of occupation in Porto Rico during the Spanish-American war, and although long retired when the United States entered the world war, he was ready and eager to participate once again in the service to which his life had been devoted.

It was the saddest disappointment of a long and adventurous career when, despite his best efforts, General Miles was not recalled to active service in 1917. He had been retired in 1903 upon reaching the limit, but when the United States entered the European war, he was asked to be sent to Siberia with the American troops. It was decided, however, that an exception could not be made in his case, hence his last military service was in 1915, when he presided over the Medal of Honor board which reviewed the list of officers and men who had been honored by the nation with that decoration.

General Miles received his first military training at the hands of a former officer of the French army, the Rev. John Myler, who was called by teaching a number of young men the tactics employed by the French army. It was quite natural that his ambitions should center on the army, for he sprang from a long line of fighting colonists on the paternal side.

The family traced its ancestry back to the Rev. John Myler, "fighting" man, who, upon the outbreak of "King Philip's war" in 1675, girded on his sword and led the colonists against the Indians, and "Captain Myler's" home was fortified by the pioneers, and from there he led many subsequent forays against the red men.

Was a Fighter.

Young Nelson himself was a fighter and Indian warrior from his earliest youth. While at school he was never so happy as when leading his comrades against imaginary "Indians," and he was always ready to defend a young soldier's mind. His elder brother, Daniel, who taught him in school, used his military predilection to calm the boy's pranks and moments. He was sore pressed to discipline Nelson upon his use of military terms. Being kept after school or thrashed had little effect, but when the teacher said "Nelson, you have disobeyed the command, you are a prisoner of war," the results were immediate.

General Miles was born at Westminister, Mass., April 8, 1839, and received an academic education there and in Boston. In later years he was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by Harvard, Brown and Colgate.

When the civil war broke out many civilians organized units with their own funds and later took command of their townsmen in the army. When the Roxbury Guards were recruited, the enthusiastic citizens of that town promised a bounty of $20 for each man who enlisted. The money was delayed, however, and when the company was completed and the funds still failed to materialize, Miles took the only thousand dollars he had in the world and by borrowing $2,500 more, paid the men their bonus. He was never reimbursed for the forfeited town council.

Miles passed through the bloody battle of Antietam unscathed and won further commendation. At Chancellorsville he again elicited the praise of the nation's highest distinction, "for distinguished gallantry at Chancellorsville." It was at this battle that he received his most serious wound, a shot in the abdomen. It time reconstruction, far more difficult but he recovered in time to take part in Grant's campaign against Richmond.

Meets Assault.

By some queer coincidence many years after the war, Miles met the Confederate soldier who fired the bullet. The man was only 150 yards from his target and only the fact that the bullet struck Miles' belt buckle saved the officer from death.

"I aimed at your heart," the man said, "but I missed. I was a Confederate soldier who fired the bullet. The man was only 150 yards from his target and only the fact that the bullet struck Miles' belt buckle saved the officer from death."

Although only 24 years old, Miles had become famous in army circles, and Grant, Meade, Burnside, McClellan and other major generals were constantly in the field under whom he served, urged his promotion. He continued his record at the Wilderness, and at Gettysburg, where he was cited "for gallant and meritorious service at Spottsylvania."

Over-Population Is Problem That Europeans Must Solve, Or Dawes Plan Will Crash

Count Karolyi Scores Present Leaders, Who, He Predicts, Are Leading Nations Into War.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press.)

(London, May 15.—Europe's problem is over-population, and unless it is solved, the crash of the Dawes plan will be heard amid the clash of arms as Europe engages in another war, according to Count Michael Karolyi, first president of the short-lived Hungarian republic, who recently visited the United States under a gag agreement with the American state department, which prevented his speaking on politics.

"Europe's leaders are of the old school," Karolyi said in an exclusive interview with the United Press. "They have one fixed idea—that by every means public opinion should be diverted from the main issue of social problems and the remedies for them. So they talk of nationalism, of patriotism, of tradition.

"If we back these men we must be prepared for the consequences that will follow naturally.

Will Destroy Dawes Plan.

"The sort of talk by which these leaders keep people's minds off the real remedies for Europe's maladies will bring the crash of the Dawes plan and of all the plans for European reconstruction; and the crash will be heard amid the clash of arms when the war begins. So long as people fail to understand these facts there can be no economic reconstruction.

"Europe is over-populated. It was impossible before the war for all Europeans to support themselves only because raw materials were pouring into European countries, and these people worked them into manufactured articles and threw these articles back into the world's markets. They had the money and the markets to do it then. The war lost Europe the money and the markets and the energy of her people—and left the same population of 400,000,000 who cannot live under the old conditions.

"The three possible remedies are emigration, birth control, and the colonization of Europeans in Europe.

Emigration Virtually Cut Off.

"But as regards emigration, the United States and Canada virtually have ruled out that possibility. Russia is closed. The opportunities in South America are limited.

"The whole reactionary crowd of idealists is opposed to birth control. The rulers of Europe want more people, the more the better. Unemployment is bad when viewed objectively, but it means cheap labor in time of peace and cheap soldiers in time of war, when millions would volunteer because they would die quickly in battle than slowly at home of starvation. The horror of war is less to them than the horror of peace, with its slow decay, its disease and demoralization.

"Colonization of Europeans in Europe would mean giving the land to the people. People in over-populated countries would go back to the land and learn to support themselves. But that would mean the breaking up of the feudal system of big estates.

"So, I have little hope that any of these solutions will be applied. Europe's statesmen are too narrow-minded to do it."

"Hotel labels on a suitcase make an interesting record. Show where it has been," "I'm glad the pawnbrokers don't use labels,"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ATLANTA HEALTH WORKERS PARADE

Health enthusiasts had their inning Friday with the movement of a health parade, comprising a score of floats, and thousands of school children.

A detachment of mounted police, the parade left the state capital at noon under marshaling of Fred J. Coolidge, and after traveling the heart of the city via Peachtree street, it passed in review before the Biltmore hotel, where the members of the Medical Association of Georgia had their stand.

One of the features of the parade was a platoon of children mounted on ponies, and dressed as health crusaders. There were floats of all kinds in the parade, all of them with a health motif.

The Georgia Railway & Power company and Tech High school supplied bands for the parade. All welfare and civic health organizations in the county and city were represented.

A most significant float among the many in Atlanta's huge health parade Friday was that prepared by the Junior Red Cross. The float was designed to indicate the various forms of health activities undertaken by the Junior Red Cross.

Education, exercise, proper diet, life saving through proficiency in swimming and many other principles inculcated by the work of the order were portrayed by members of the society on the mammoth float.

PADGETT LOSES SUIT TO VOID CITY TRAFFIC LAW

W. V. Padgett will pay his fine of $100 or serve 30 days at the Atlanta gaol, according to a decision rendered Friday by Judge John H. Humphries, of Fulton superior court.

This sentence was passed on Padgett April 28 by Recorder Pro Tem Murphy. But city police of the city police court, and Padgett filed suit in Fulton superior court for habeas corpus on the grounds that the city law making driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor an offense, is null and void.

Padgett was charged with violation of section 58 of the city code, which makes this an offense. His suit was directed against E. J. Hale, superintendent of the Atlanta prison. Padgett set out in his suit that if he is guilty of any offense it is against the state only and not against the city.

Judge Humphries refused the habeas corpus proceedings and ruled that the city has a right to prosecute under the city code for alleged violations of that section which makes it an offense to drive an automobile while under the influence of intoxicants.

James L. Mayson and Jesse M. Wood represented the city in the suit.

Williams Oil-O-Matic Sale Breaks Records, C. A. Thomas Reports

C. A. Thomas, of the Brumblow Heating and Plumbing company, has returned from Bloomington, Ill., where he attended a convention of the Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating corporation, which convened in Bloomington, May 11-12. There were 1,000 dealers present, coming from all parts of the country.

It was officially announced that production of Oil-O-Matics for the months of July and August would total 6,000. Signed orders were received by the company for the entire lot. One hour was given for taking the orders, but within 25 minutes 6,250 burners were sold, amounting to $2,500,000. This was the biggest sale of oil burners ever made in this short space of time.

One of the five units of the new plant has been completed and will be in operation within 30 days. The other four units will be finished this year and when completed the production of Oil-O-Matics will number about 200,000 burners per year.

To the average householder, business man, factory owner or others interested in the question of heating appliances for the home or commercial institution, there may be considerable mystery in the method of securing heat from oil. There can be only one right way to utilize this product which gushes forth so generously from the subterranean strata of Mother Earth. It might be explained, for the benefit of the uninitiated, that many years ago, four natural laws covering the combustion of fuel oil, were formulated by engineers. These are treated in an easily understood manner in Kent's Handbook of Engineering and in Admiral Dymon's "Naval Engineering."

Walter Williams, Bloomington inventor and mechanical engineer, was the very first to apply these natural laws to the oil burner for the home. His success is attributable to his good judgment in the decision to apply them closely, rather than trying to operate counter to them, as appears to have been the action of others who sought success in the same field but who seem to have signally failed. He devoted his intellect and time in the supreme effort to discover how to burn oil as nature intended it should be consumed, rather than to see how he could force an oil burner to operate regardless of possible contradictions to nature's laws.

NEW THEATER LEASE TO BE SIGNED SOON

It is probable that a lease on the new theater, to be built as part of the Macy department store development at Peachtree and Ellis streets, will be signed next week, it was announced Friday.

Arrangements for the department store are dependent in part on the theater lease, it is understood, and as soon as approved plans for the building, which are expected daily, are received, Asa G. Candler, Inc., will be ready to make the lease on the theater.

It is understood that several theatrical interests ranging from the legitimate to the movies are bidding for the lease, but names are not available at this time.

The new theater will be in the rear of the department store building, but probably with an entrance through to Peachtree street. It will be the second new theater erected since the first of this year on the same block, the new Keith house now being in course of construction at the rear of the Henry Grady hotel.

CLARKSTON CHURCH

TO STAGE REUNION

An annual homecoming day has been planned for Sunday by the Clarkston Baptist church and invitations have been sent to all members whose names are on the rolls at the present time.

Officials of the church announce that the rolls are incomplete and that this notice is to be regarded as an invitation to all members who do not receive special requests to be present.

Great plans have been made for the entertainment of the guests, including a roll call of charter members which will be read at the homecoming.

All members who will not be able to attend the homecoming are requested to communicate with W. D. Ackers, Route No. 1, Tucker, Ga., so that their names may be reentered on the rolls of the church.

EAST POINT CIVIC LEADERS DISCUSS NEW SCHOOL SITE

Plans for erection of a new school building were discussed at a meeting Thursday night of the Colonial Hill Civic club, of East Point. The proposed site is at the corner of Michael and Dauphin avenues.

A group of prominent speakers were included in the program, including C. H. Livezey, mayor of East Point; C. W. Hager, United States district attorney; Judge R. F. Thompson, Gordon Nabell, H. A. McCoy and Colonel E. L. Humphries. Resolutions were served on the grounds. J. W. Collier, president of the club, presided.

Mr. Sloan and his party left for Jacksonville, Fla. They inspected the several General Motors units in Atlanta and held a conference with local representatives of the company.

Steady business with gradual substantial growth is seen for the motor industry by Mr. Sloan, who is a close observer of conditions in the automobile world. He expects no sudden increase in business, but rather a good, solid expansion. The purpose of the southern tour was to get first hand conditions in this section and to compare them with conditions in other sections, in line with expansion plans for the southern territory contemplated by his company.

Plans are being made to meet future increased demand for automobiles, both pleasure and commercial equipment, and these plans are vindicated by what has been heard and seen on this trip, Mr. Sloan indicated.

Sales of the General Motors corporation in April were within five per cent of the sales in the same month of 1928, the peak month of the automobile industry to date. This is a very encouraging sign, Mr. Sloan said.

Members of the party who, together with a number of local business men and the Atlanta representatives of General Motors, were guests at the luncheon, follow: Mr. Sloan, president; C. S. Mott, John L. Platt, Donaldson Brown, vice presidents of the General Motors corporation; Wade H. Leach, John S. Ardis, special representatives, and John J. Schumann, Jr., vice president of the General Motors Acceptance corporation.

Lunacy Hearing For Mrs. Bowman Set for Tuesday

Winder, Ga., May 15.—(Special.) Next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock has been set as the time when the lunacy hearing for Mrs. Jettie Bowman, who Tuesday killed Guy Thurman, slayer last November of her husband, seeking to have her adjudged insane, will be heard by Judge Parker, ordinary of Barrow county. The motion will be opposed by attorneys for the Thurman family, who have had a warrant charging first-degree murder issued against Mrs. Bowman. It is announced.

An effort is being made to have Mrs. Bowman removed from the Winder jail, where she has been in a state of coma since the killing, to a hospital, where more adequate medical treatment may be given.

The condition of Mrs. Bowman continues critical, and it is said that unless she takes nourishment soon, fears of her recovery are apprehended.

The shooting of Thurman occurred on the street at Statham, near here, Tuesday, he being killed instantly by Mrs. Bowman, who used a pistol. Six months ago, Thurman shot and killed the husband of Mrs. Bowman, in her presence, and it is claimed that the death of her husband unbalanced her mind.

Prominent Speakers Praise Spirit of Coin Campaigns At Luncheon Meetings Here

Workers Affirm Determination to Double Quotas in Disposing of Certificates.

After what was declared by Governor Walker, Mayor Sims, Mr. Howell, Attorney General Napier, ex-Governor Harris, Alfred C. Newell, city chairman, and Roy H. Tolleson, Atlanta campaign manager, the coin campaign workers affirmed their determination to double their sale of coin certificates in the open campaign now in progress.

Addresses were made by Governor Walker, Mayor Sims, Mr. Howell, Attorney General Napier, ex-Governor Harris, Alfred C. Newell, city chairman, and Roy H. Tolleson, Atlanta campaign manager.

Governor Walker, when introduced to the hundreds present, declared that "there is no question as to the success of the sale of coin certificates. Atlanta always does things in a big way whenever she puts her shoulder to the wheel."

Governor Walker left the meeting early in order to attend a meeting of the Atlanta district, comprising 60 north Georgia counties. The Atlanta district meeting was held at a luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel. Preston S. Arkwright, state chairman, presided.

District Meeting.
W. L. Shaddix, district director, was in charge of the gathering of out-of-town guests. Other district meetings are arranged for all over Georgia.

Ex-Governor Harris said at the city meeting that the most impressive thing about the memorial coin is that any person from Maine, Colorado and all over the nation may have one of these coins in his pocket to remind them of a brave and worthy race of people and who are now so progressive and patriotic.

Mayor Sims was introduced to speak on "Listen to Atlanta's Call." "If that monument reached as high as the azure skies above and was as big as the universe, it would not be too big to honor such great soldiers," he declared. No soldier was ever so great in war, and in the dark days of reconstruction.

Success Forecast.
Called on as the son of a Confederate soldier, Mr. Howell said that he had come to the Atlanta campaign seed-off meeting with the idea of attending a small gathering.

"But this big meeting of hundreds of the best people of Atlanta already forecasts that the Atlanta spirit of old assures success," he stated. And this big gathering is for the greatest cause ever considered by the city.

He said that the people of Atlanta do not appreciate the value of this wonderful monument. The whole world is talking about it. There is hardly a day, even now, but some notable figure of America stops off here just to view Stone Mountain. The president of the General Motors company, probably the biggest company of its kind in America, is here today conferring with his workers in Atlanta. And the only entertainment he said he wanted while in the city was to take his vice presidents and associates to see Stone Mountain.

"You campaigners have a wonderful opportunity to do something big. I believe you will, and instead of the quota remaining at 200,000 I believe you will make it a half-million coins sold in Atlanta."

Newell Is Confident.
The speaker had hardly resumed his seat at the speakers' table than Alfred C. Newell, city chairman and president officer, waved his hand to the hundreds and said:

"That speech means that Atlanta will sell a half-million coin certificates."

Attorney General Napier declared that posterity would always be grateful for the building of the biggest monument in the world on Stone Mountain.

Mr. Newell, city chairman, following an explanation by Roy H. Tolleson, campaign manager, of the duties of the workers, introduced to the meeting division chairman.

A check for $100 in coins was sent to Mr. Newell by Mrs. Mary E. Connelly, he reported.

Atlantans Form Scenic Highway Chapter Friday

Formation of an Atlanta chapter of the Appalachian Scenic Highway association took place today at the Ansley hotel Friday afternoon. W. Tom Winn, president of the Georgia State Good Roads association, was made temporary chairman, and J. E. McMillan was elected secretary-treasurer.

Roscoe Marvel, of Asheville, N. C., president of the national association; P. P. Burton, representing the Asheville Chamber of Commerce and Rotary club, and E. M. Lyde, chairman of the county commissioners of Buncombe county, N. C., attended the meeting.

A meeting of the local chapter will be called soon to perfect organization and to get its activities under way.

New Direct Train Service to Savannah To Be Installed by Seaboard July 1

An artist's drawing of the new through train service to be inaugurated July 1, when the Seaboard Air Line takes over the Macon, Dublin & Savannah, affording a new direct line to the coast. With the M. D. & S. road, the Seaboard also will take over active control and operation of the Tampa Northern and the Tampa & Gulf Coast lines, shown in lower left inset. All three roads have been the property for many years of the Seaboard, although operated independently. Sweeping revision of schedule and freight rates are expected to result along the new line from capital to coast, via Macon, Dublin and Vidalia.

Announcement that the Seaboard Air Line railway on July 1, will take over actual operation of the Macon, Dublin and Savannah, the Tampa Northern and the Tampa & Gulf Coast railroads and through this operation give Atlanta a new direct railroad service to Savannah was confirmed by railroad officials Friday.

Through traffic arrangement with the Southern railway, trains will be operated directly into Atlanta from Savannah by way of Macon under the new plan. The new route is 33 miles shorter, it also is pointed out.

These developments mean that Atlanta will get a new direct train service to one of the richest sections of middle Georgia centering around Dublin and will afford the people of that part of the state a direct new railroad service to Atlanta and thence north, east and west.

New Service Seen.
Although Seaboard officials would go no further in their statements, railroad officials declared that the new change in operations ultimately will mean the establishment of a new direct Atlanta-Florida service running by Macon, Dublin, Vidalia, Valdosta and Florida cities to Tampa and other points on the Florida west coast.

For several years the Seaboard Air Line has controlled the Macon, Dublin and Savannah and the two small coast lines in Florida. The lines have been operated independently for several years.

Under the traffic arrangement with the Southern railway, trains can be operated directly into Atlanta from Savannah. The distance from Atlanta to Savannah over the Central of Georgia is 250.6 miles. Along the new route by Macon, Dublin and Vidalia the distance is 260.1 miles about 33 miles less than by the Central of Georgia route.

Answers Great Need.
Recent developments in peach-growing and tobacco culture in the territory around Dublin and Vidalia, making that section proper more readily than at any time in a decade are a factor for the new system. The new railroad service will stimulate this activity, will provide ample freight outlets in all directions and probably will bring about a reduction of approximately 15 per cent in freight rates to and from that territory, it is pointed out.

The Seaboard now operates a line from Savannah to Montgomery, Ala. At Vidalia this line connects with the Macon, Dublin and Savannah road. The Macon, Dublin and Savannah runs from Vidalia to Macon by way of Dublin. The Georgia and Florida runs from Vidalia south to Valdosta and Madison, Fla., where it connects with the Seaboard Air Line, which runs from Jacksonville to Tampa.

It is understood that the first change to be made will be a revision of schedules between Dublin and Vidalia to Atlanta and the establishment of direct freight and passenger connections between Savannah and Atlanta over the new route.

W. L. Stanley, vice president of the Seaboard with offices in the Citizens and Southern bank building here was not in Atlanta Friday but it was learned that news dispatches concerning the change in operations printed Thursday were based on facts.

Florida Developments.
In Florida the Seaboard Air Line has been making extensive railroad developments in the last few years. The line has recently completed a railroad running across the peninsula from Tampa to the east coast.

By connecting up the short lines controlled in Florida and Georgia by the Seaboard with some extensions, it would be possible for the Seaboard to operate trains direct from Florida to Atlanta through the use of the Southern tracks between Atlanta and Macon. This route would be a direct route between Atlanta and Tampa through one of the richest sections of Georgia and Florida, this section showing remarkable growth and expansion in the last few years through the production of tobacco and peaches.

According to press dispatches L. H. Cahill, of Norfolk, Va., vice president in charge of operations, will be placed in charge of the operations of the new route. Through the revised schedules people living in the Dublin, Georgia and the Vidalia section are given greatly improved service to Atlanta and the north.

The first step in the plan, the operation of the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad by the Seaboard Air Line will be taken July 1 and the other improvements will come as soon thereafter as schedules can be revised and perfected, it is said.

Microphone Placed in State Chamber
One of the latest type loud speaker microphone outfits was installed Friday in the hall of the house of representatives at the state capitol, by the Western Electric company.

Acoustics in the house are poor and, with the constant hubbub which comes on while the house is in session it is hard for members to hear at all times what the speaker is saying or the reading clerk is reading. It is said that this microphone outfit will remedy this and will allow all members to hear in every part of the hall. It is also hoped that this will result in members remaining at their desks rather than crowding down in the chairs directly in front of the speaker's stand.

The microphone loud speaker has not yet been purchased by the state, merely having been installed for a demonstration in the hope that the state will decide to buy it.

Last year while the legislature was in session Governor Walker suggested that some such equipment might be secured to overcome the poor acoustics of the house and indicated that he would at least look with favor on any workable design. It is understood that the design now placed in the house is not the one that would be installed should it be decided to buy, the company designing special outfits according to the needs of each individual purchase. The new installation is, merely of the general type of the invention and will do no more than demonstrate the possibilities.

AUTO TAG INCOME PASSES 1924 MARK
Income of the automobile license tag office of the secretary of state's office has already passed, for 1925, the total receipts from this source for the entire year of 1924.

This was made certain on Friday when checks for the April sales were sent to the state treasurer and it was found that April brought in a total of $210,567.39. This brings the total for the first four months of the year to $250,404.41, which is $31,000 less than the total for 1924, but this amount has been more than made up during the first fifteen days of May.

WALKER MAY DECIDE FATE OF CURRY TODAY

Governor Walker indicated Friday afternoon that he would probably make known his decision in the case of Lee Curry, of Toombs county, who has asked commutation of the death sentence imposed upon him to life imprisonment, this afternoon.

Hearing of the final plea for the life of Curry was held in the governor's office on Friday morning, the last effort to induce the state's chief executive to exercise his merciful prerogative coming from the lips of J. W. Curry, father of the condemned man. Mr. Curry said his son had been "queer" since childhood, corroborating the claims of E. J. Giles, attorney for Curry, who based his argument for clemency on the belief that his client is mentally unbalanced.

George Lankford, representing the state, denied the claims of insanity and declared Curry had carefully planned his crime, when he murdered Burleigh Phillips in February, 1920, and that no corroboration of the insanity plea could be found throughout Curry's life history prior to his indictment for murder.

Curry's case is unusual in that he has been tried five times. Four of the juries brought in hanging verdicts, while one resulted in a mistrial. Each of the four trials which resulted in verdicts brought the grant of a new trial from the supreme court, with the exception of the last.

Should the governor refuse to commute Curry's sentence, he will hang in Toombs county jail on Friday next, May 22.

Governor Lauds Coolidge Economy In Reply to Note

Following receipt of an invitation to attend a conference of governors, called by President Calvin Coolidge, to be held in Poland Springs, Maine, on June 18, Governor Walker declared Friday that he is in hearty accord with the president's plans for a campaign of economy in expenses of both state and federal government.

While stating his delight at the president's plans, however, the governor pointed out that a policy of economy in state government was begun by his administration two years ago, part of which is now being operated in the work of the survey commission which he named to inspect financial needs of state departments and state-supported institutions.

Should the governor refuse to commute Curry's sentence, he will hang in Toombs county jail on Friday next, May 22.

Lessee of W. & A. Exceeds Requirement In Upkeep Expense

Although the contract under which the state leases its railroad property, the W. & A. road to the N. C. & St. L., only requires the lessee to expend $60,000 annually on the upkeep of the road, the lessee actually spent $108,892.48 during 1924, it was pointed out Friday by Chairman Paul Trammell, of the state public service commission. The commission returned Thursday from its annual trip of inspection over the road.

The property is in splendid condition at the present time, Chairman Trammell declared. Since 1915 the lessee has spent a total of $623,749.50 on its upkeep, it was stated.

Plans are also under way by the lessee to enlarge the tunnel near Dalton, it was said, at an expense of either $300,000 or $380,000. The larger figure will be required if the company decides on double-tracking through the tunnel.

Upkeep of the property does not cost the state anything, all expenses being met by the lessee.

HOUSER TO RETURN TO ATLANTA TODAY

Fred Houser, executive secretary of the Atlanta Convention and Tourist bureau, will return today from Kansas City, where he has been for two weeks in the interest of securing the 1928 convention of the National Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks for Atlanta. Columbus, Ohio, was awarded the meeting after a strenuous contest in which New Orleans, Springfield, Mass., Columbus,

COUNTY AWARDS PAVING CONTRACT

Award of contracts for 25,000 to 26,000 square yards of asphalt paving featured the meeting of the public works committee of Fulton county commissioners Friday afternoon. Sam Finley company was awarded the paving contracts. The Rumpston and Bolling roads in the Garden Hills section of the county will be paved at a cost of $9.75 cents a square yard, and Highland and Martina drives will be paved with sheet asphalt at a cost of 63.6 cents a square yard.

Standard Coal company won the bidding to furnish the county coal for next winter. The bid was $3.45 a ton, and Atlanta for 30 cars. This is about 1,500 tons.

The committee also decided to attend the meeting of the Georgia Association of county commissioners at Athens, May 21-22.

Des Moines and Atlanta were spirited bidders. For a time it looked as if Atlanta would be the winner, but the strength of organized labor in the large industrial centers was felt in the final vote.

BY JOHN STATON.

The crucial game of the Tech-Georgia series, the first played on Grant field, was awarded to Tech yesterday by the rather generous sack had only to win this one to put the series away. Tech, white-washed thus far, had to take the third game to have a chance at evening the score, but that's another story.

At 3 o'clock today the two teams met in their final engagement of the 1925 season. Even more people are expected to pack the Grand field than yesterday. It will be Georgia's last chance to take the series. It will be Tech's only chance to make the series go to three games. Scores: Seniors Enloe will get the first hit for Tech. The slinger for the Bulldogs has not been named, but probably will be one of the players who flamed yesterday's affair.

Tech won yesterday because Georgia would not. Georgia lost because Tech refused to lose. If the game had gone on longer, if the Bulldogs explode, one might gain a fair knowledge as to how it progressed.

Tech handed it to Georgia in a hurry. They came around the bases and walked it off on Tech, and so on, through eight and a half innings.

Kain, and retired the side without further mishap to Tech.

Tech still holds the fifth before getting another one. Reeves was safe on error by Fully. He took a lead off base on a throw on an error by Richardson. Conn's single to center scored him.

Tech got another in the seventh while the top of the inning was on an error by the left fielder, and on an error by Yocoff's double into the stands.

Two more came in the Yellow Jackets' eighth. Deane, who had been Moran was hit by pitched ball. Conn moved them up a base, and they were squeezed in by Wilder and Deane.

Tech's winning run came in the eighth. Angley walked and Yocoff singled to short. Angley was forced out at second. Deane was safe at safe at first on a fielder's choice, but

MOROCCO REBELS REINFORCE LINES

Rabat, French Morocco, May 15.—Abd-el-Krim is reinforcing the eastern zone of the lengthy battle line along which the French and Riffian forces are drawn up, according to a communiqué given out at French headquarters Friday. The principal Riff concentration is in the neighborhood of Kiffane.

TRIBESMEN REFUSE TO ADMIT DEFEAT

Paris, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Abd-el-Krim's tribesmen show no sign as yet of reacting to the heavy blow delivered against them yesterday by General Count de Chambrin, who, under Marshal Lyautey, is commanding the operations in the French zone. Meanwhile the French have lost no time in consolidating their captured positions and are preparing to continue their work of driving the Riffian invaders out of French territory.

Only troops from Algeria and Morocco were used in Wednesday's operations, Marshal Lyautey awaiting the arrival of reinforcements now on the way from France before beginning the second phase of his campaign, the plans for which are practically complete.

The Chamberlain's move has accomplished two objects. First, it nipped in the bud Abd-el-Krim's designs upon Fez and forced the Riffians to retreat along a good portion of their front, and second, it has placed the French forces in control of the outlying mountain spurs, enabling the French general to prepare his ground for the more extended and possibly final operations.

Government Alarmed.
The French action against the Riffians will have an echo in parliament after the Easter recess. Socialist leaders announced today they will interpret the government and demand a precise statement of its intentions in Morocco. Considerable importance attaches to this statement because the socialists never have approved the French course in Morocco.

Government circles hear the socialists will abstain from voting on the appropriations for the present expedition against the Riffians, thus giving the opposition a chance to exploit the cabinet's difficulties.

The government is alarmed at the attitude of the communists who have lately appealed to workers to rebel against the use of the French army for any purpose in Morocco.

MOVIE INSURGENTS CONFERENCE SPLITS

Milwaukee, May 15.—A disagreement over representation on the board of directors caused the allied states group of motion picture exhibitors Friday to break away from the convention of the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association of America. The exhibitors went into separate sessions.

The exhibitors split with the theater owners when they denied permission to name at least 10 of the 25 members of the board of directors.

The seceding group pointed out that it had a membership of 2,900 exhibitors, paying annually more than $125,000 in dues. It was claimed that, without their theater owners can collect only $29,000 in dues.

Leaders of the owners' organization said that they believed the difficulty would be smoothed over before the convention is adjourned and that the exhibitors would make no effort to create an entirely new organization.

The two organizations met for the expressed purpose of combining their forces to fight the so-called movie trust. Delegates have called in agents of the department of justice to see whether the alleged trust is violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

The delegates charge the "trust" is composed of the First National-Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and the Famous Players-Lasky.

Sydney Cohen, of New York, one of the leaders of the movie exhibitors, says that the trust is a gigantic octopus.

"Its tentacles stretch all over the world, forcing movie exhibitors to sign exclusive contracts, making them take every picture which rushes forth from the film trust's lair—the good and the bad alike," he declared Friday.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES DEFENSE DAY TEST ON ARMISTICE DAY

Washington, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—While President Coolidge has reached no decision on the question of holding a national defense day test this year he is inclined to oppose such a test on Armistice day.

The only holiday which Mr. Coolidge feels would be appropriate for such a demonstration is the Fourth of July. He is not, however, ready to suggest this or any other date for the proposed test since he is awaiting further reports on the question before coming to a conclusion as to the advisability of sanctioning a defense test at all.

The suggestions that the muster be made on annual event is a matter for congress to pass upon, in the president's opinion, before it could be put into effect as a national policy.

GIANTS EASILY LEADERS IN NATIONAL

New York, May 15.—Completion of the first month of play in the National league finds the New York Giants considerably more advanced in their drive for a fifth straight championship than they were at the same stage of the 1924 race.

The only team to get better than an even break in the standing, the Giants today repose comfortably at the top of the pack with an advantage of five and a half games over the running-up clubs—Brooklyn and Cincinnati. A year ago they were trailing the leading Reds by a half a game.

The standing at the end of the first month in 1924 follows:

TEAM	Won	Lost
Cincinnati	15	8
New York	15	8
Chicago	15	12
Brooklyn	12	12
Pittsburgh	11	13
Boston	9	14
St. Louis	9	14
Philadelphia	6	13

AMERICAN RACE TOPSY-TURVY.
Chicago, May 15.—The American league standing presents a topsy-turvy appearance at the end of the first month of play as compared with the first month of 1924.

Last year the Athletics were in the cellar and stayed there until July. This year they are leading the league and took their first win in a row yesterday from Detroit. The other three first-division clubs, last year at this period of the race, were in the second division.

A year ago the Yankees were in first place with a good lead and St. Louis, Boston and Detroit were closely bunched not far behind. Today all four are in the second division.

The standing of the clubs today, compared with a year ago, follows:

Pos. Today	W.	L.	Yr. Ago	W.	L.
Philadelphia	18	5	18	7	13
Washington	16	8	17	11	13
Cleveland	15	8	15	11	11
Chicago	17	10	10	10	11
St. Louis	12	16	12	13	10
New York	16	11	14	8	14
Boston	7	17	11	9	14
Detroit	8	20	11	11	11

LOUISVILLE JAMMED FOR CLASSIC DERBY

In mind when they become hysterical over the wild music of "Dixie" in Broadway's cabarets.

Quadrant Is Favorite.
In view of the fact that the weather has been as fair as a blind judge for the past week, the race itself seemed to be a grab-bag. Of course, Quadrant, the Fred Johnson horse, which Earl Sande so eagerly desired to ride, was the favorite, and there were other steeds with notable records which simply had to be placed ahead of others in the theorizing, but when the starter pulls the lanyard on 25 critters, each one with four hoofs under him and a heart within his hide, the result is largely a matter of chance.

Quadrant might be pocketed by a pair of preposterous outsiders, kicked in the face and tossed to the rear. Captain Hal might be crowded to the outside and forced to take the longest way. Therefore, a great deal depends on the weather, and the fellow who sits in an office somewhere over yonder in this town and predicts the rains and sunshines by the reading of certain jiggers, was all for show.

Weather Is Small Factor.
"Light showers," as the weather fellow phrased it, would not interfere with many horses, because the track at Churchill Downs must have at least four inches of fresh harrowed loam on the surface. It will take a soaking good rain to affect the track, and as this seemed very unlikely, the weather was not regarded as a factor in the race.

Quadrant is a pig for mud, as he has demonstrated. Sande will ride Flying Ebony, a stable buddy of Coventry, which won the Preakness last week, if that confers any advantage on him.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Chantey, a 3-year-old colt, which ran, won his first race a little while ago at Havre de Grace, will be named in many of the bets which are rung upon the iron mikes, but certainly not as first choice of the greatest number, for he was whipped the other day.

Kentucky Cardinal was a "poor man's horse" until a short time ago. Because of his name and associations, Kentucky will cheer if it doesn't back him. This horse belonged to Desha Breckenridge, a Kentucky newspaper man, editor of The Lexington Herald.

Breckenridge couldn't resist an offer of $70,000 and sold him to G. Frank Croissant, who wanted a derby nominee when it was too late to breed one. Breckenridge doesn't sit on the curb with a tin cup and smoked glasses, but he isn't a rich man as compared to some of the others who have horses in this race. So he sold.

Garner Rides Kentucky Cardinal. Mack Garner will ride Kentucky Cardinal. Mack may be as light as a 12-year-old boy, but he must be able to remember when Chauncey Depew was a juvenile, because he rode a derby winner back in 1897 and he wasn't wearing swaddling even then.

ney and Harry Payne Whitney—have four horses still in the entry list, and Jimmy Rowe, their trainer, said he might send the whole quartette to the post. He probably won't, though. Two, perhaps, and possibly three, but not four.

J. J. Troxler, of Lexington, is taking the gamest gamble yet discerned in this shambling festival. He was offered $90,000 some time ago for King Nadie, a colt, which then seemed right likely to step out and do it. Troxler is another of the comparatively poor owners in the field for this race. He refused to sell and the other day King Nadie was beaten.

Saturday morning some of the 25 horses probably will be withdrawn from the race. The more withdrawals, the better the chances of the favorites. At the risk of making a rash prediction, one might say that not more than 20 horses will start scuffling the soil Saturday evening when the barrier snaps on the 51st running of the most romantic incident in the American calendar of sport—the Kentucky Derby.

PINKIE MAY BEATS REGAN

Augusta, Ga., May 15.—(Special.) "Pinkie" May, of Augusta and Savannah, was tonight awarded a technical knockout over Benny Regan, of Atlanta, in the tenth round of a scheduled 10-round bout, thereby winning the southern bantamweight championship. A belt carrying this honor was awarded the winner of the bout. A great deal of dissatisfaction arose over the outcome, the fans claiming that the referee called the fight before the bell sounded.

3 SOUTHERN STATES ASKED TO AID SURVEY

Tallahassee, Fla., May 15.—The legislatures of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana and congress will be requested by the Florida legislature to authorize the examination and survey of the proposed Atlantic-Mississippi canal and inland waterway under provisions of a memorial adopted by the house this morning.

The proposed waterway would extend from Cumberland sound across Florida to St. George's sound.

KILMER BUYS HARRIS FARM

Harrisonburg, Va., May 15.—Willis Sharpe Kilmer, race horse owner and sportsman of New York and Virginia, has completed a deal for the purchase of the George H. Harris farm near here for a reputed price of $100,000. For the last four years Mr. Kilmer has held a lease on the estate, known as Court Manor, and during that time has expended something over $200,000 in building up a modern horse breeding plant which has come to be recognized as one of the show places of the Valley of Virginia.

Just what bearing, if any, the purchase has on Mr. Kilmer's plans for future racing could not be learned tonight. He recently denied published reports that he would sell his stables at auction following the death of his famous horse, Sunny Man, which died under mysterious circumstances at Pimlico.

today. W. J. Salmon offered $95,000 in the bidding but Widener bid in at $100,000 and retained the horse.

MAJ. BELMONT STOCK BRINGS FANCY PRICE

Lexington, Ky., May 15.—Fair Play, 20-year-old stallion and sire of Man o' War, was bought in by Joseph E. Widener at the Belmont sale here

Charles H. Berryman, Lexington breeder, bought Dona Roca, by Rock Sand-Donna de Oro, for $40,000. The price was said to be a new American record price for a brood mare with a colt at her side.

Thirty-three mares, some of them with foals at their side, were sold this morning. The sale is being conducted by Widener, who purchased the horses from the Belmont estate last fall. The mares brought a total price of $393,000, an average of $9,000. Some of the other sales at high prices included:

- Chit Chat with filly by Fair Play, A. J. Joyner, $31,000.
- Blue Grass, foal by Grey Lag, A. J. Joyner, $27,000.
- Hour Hand, colt by Fair Play, A. J. Joyner, $19,000.
- Balancoire, foal by Fair Play, Q. H. Berryman, $17,000.
- Fair Point, filly by Hourless, C. H. Berryman, $16,000.
- Catalpa, C. H. Berryman, $14,000.
- Chintz, C. H. Berryman, $14,000.

Measure Your Advertising Dollar to fit your Prospects

80c out of each dollar invested in morning newspaper space buys contact with your major retail prospect: THE WOMAN

THIS is a short and simple study of percentages. Figures have been known to lie—but figures carefully tested and proved by common sense form the basis of all intelligent business conduct.

Some men buy advertising space by habit. Others by prejudice. But the vast majority of advertisers are seeking solid facts upon which to base their investment in newspaper units.

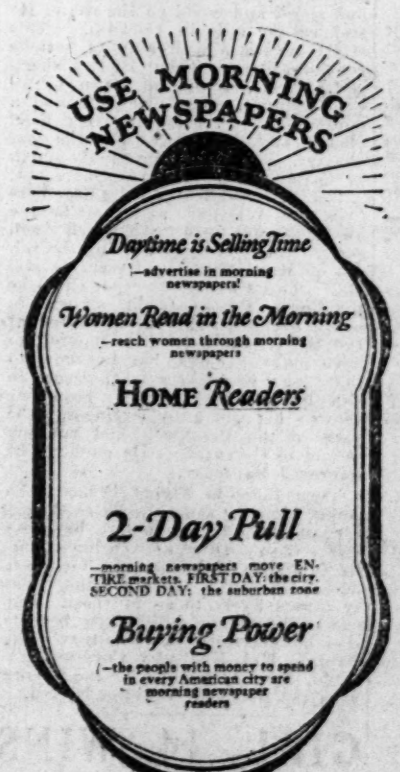

Let us consider two figures applicable to retail prospects.

A study of all available data shows that women far outweigh men as factors in the making or breaking of retail sales. One high authority states that the sale of 90% of the retail merchandise in this country is influenced directly or indirectly by women. We may reach the point quickly, therefore, that the newspaper that maintains the most consistent contact with the women of any trade-zone offers a preferred medium for retail advertising.

Now for the second figure. A careful, house-to-house study conducted by a group of merchandising men in representative American cities showed that 92% of the home-delivered circulation of morning newspapers remains in the home all day. Allowing for street sales and sales strictly to men, we may say that 80% of all morning newspaper circulation gives an effective contact with women in the home ten hours every day. Or that 80 cents out of every dollar invested in morning newspaper space provides units of selling-power before the eyes of the MAJOR prospect—the woman!

"It is my advice to all women to make a habit of giving a definite amount of time every day to the reading of morning newspapers. Morning newspaper advertising plays an important part in Home Economics."

Quality Togs For Out-of-Doors

The Southern Capital of Quality

An Editorial
By James Wallen

Benjamin Franklin said, "There are two ways of being happy; we must either diminish our wants or augment our means—either may do—the result will be the same and it is for each man to decide for himself and to do that which happens to be the easiest." It happens that the American people have elected not to diminish their wants but to augment their means. We have the courage to live and to enjoy life. All American girls are princesses to be wedded with regal pomp and circumstance. American prosperity is predicated on spending wisely—on living largely.

I borrow the phrase "living largely" from Jean Juarez, the French political leader, who was criticised for possessing a luxurious home. He made the reply, "To accomplish large things, I must live largely." The things which help to make every day more beautiful, are those wares which are of the very nature of quality.

In the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose store "quality" and "value" are the watchwords to which every department is constant and true.

There is no departure in this store from the rock-bound creed of merit. The proprietors of Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose will never compromise on a lesser standard.

"To live largely" in Atlanta and the South means to become a patron of the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose establishment—the Southern Capital of Quality.

The nominating committee, composed of Mrs. J. W. Wills, Mrs. W. L. Barnes, Mrs. Charles E. Brower, Mrs. Spencer H. Stone, Mrs. Charles F. Rice made their report of officers and board members chosen for the year.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Lucius McConnell, first vice regent-elect, received the gavel from the retiring regent. When she arose to accept the office and its responsibilities she was given an ovation by the members present. In a few words of appreciation for the great honor bestowed upon her, she pledged her fidelity to the chapter members and said in part, "that she would do all in her power to carry on the work of Atlanta chapter until Mrs. Stewart was well enough to take charge."

Mrs. Wylie joined upon Mrs. McConnell, the first vice regent-elect, for the newly elected regent, the regent's bar, the gift of Mrs. Charles Rice, in memory of her mother, Georgia Strong Sykes.

A rich expression of appreciation was given the press for its splendid cooperation with the press chairman, Mrs. Charles Rice.

Mrs. Edwin Stewart, daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. John T. Pendleton has filled most acceptably the office of chairman of the board of management the past year and chapter recording secretary in 1923. She is a member of the Georgia chapter, Founders and Patriots of America, the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Reviewers. She is a prominent member of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

Following the splendid yearly reports given by the officers and chairmen of the various departments, she paid a glowing tribute to the work of the members and expressed her deep appreciation of their loyalty and support throughout her two years.

Medals Awarded.
A very interesting feature of the meeting was the awarding of the eight medals given the high schools of the city by the Atlanta chapter for the best essay in each school on "American Citizenship." The Love Cycle

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

THE PRICE OF SILENCE.
Mansfield walked the street most of that night, his brain in chaos. His thought went round and round in a circle from which there seemed no outlet.

He knew now that he was caught in one of the blackest situations any man could devise for the torture of another human being. As completely innocent as he was of even a suggestion of a love affair with Dora Davidson, he had inadvertently and culpably allowed his interest in her mode of life and the companions that gathered around her, to blind him to the possibility of disaster.

The man who called himself her husband had reminded him of all that. He had outlined very briefly and clearly just how the world would intrude into Mansfield's life. Even if his checks were not there for evidence, Mansfield realized fully the absurdity of even trying to explain that he had been foolishly or trustingly a result of Harrison's injunction to help Dora if she were in difficulties. And now he faced destruction, the light of his life and home and reputation—perhaps even of his business career if his father-in-law should learn the story.

There was only one way out apparently, a way that Dora Davidson's so-called husband pointed out. It was money to keep the affair quiet. Mansfield had heard a great deal about the blackmail game. He knew that its victim pays and pays, that there is never an end, that after he has been bled until he can bleed no more he is frequently betrayed, and in the end, all his anguish and his money had been wrung from him in vain.

While he walked the streets that night he swore again and again that he would not be a victim. He was no weak, cowardly creature to cringe with fear before the threat of an evil, little runt like Dora Davidson's husband. He would fight, he told himself. He would risk exposure, let the man do the worst he could, let the end be what it might. It might be all a bluff, or Dora herself might persuade him to drop the game. But in his heart, Mansfield knew that it was bravado on his part. He dared not risk exposure, and to look for pity or decency from Dora was now an absurdity. The very fact that she had sent for him and asked for a loan and had left the check on the printed georgette tan in background with blue and red figures.

The party will assemble the entire senior class, including Miss Emily Haddock, Miss Margaret Allen, Miss Nettie Mae Warren, Miss Lois Pickett, Miss Constance Underwood, Miss Mabel Davis, Miss Mamie Lucy Adams, Miss Margaret Barton, Miss Fannie Jenkins, Miss Mildred Deadyler, Miss Pearl Ballenger, Miss Mildred Settle, Miss Dorothy Williams and Miss Essie Lee Robinson. School for Girls will also include Miss Louise Fife, Miss Josephine Turner, Miss Claudia Rhyne, Miss Emma Burnett, Miss Clifford Pratt, Miss Rosa Lee McClain, Miss Gladys Stevens, Miss Irene Cowan, Mrs. Lanis Duke, Mrs. John King, Mrs. Kenneth Goady, Mrs. Marian Roebuck. Members of the faculty who will attend are Miss Anita Cockrell, Miss Alma Murphy, Miss Anne Bowie and Mrs. J. W. Derst.

Sweet-Smelling Hair.
A dust cap of strong percale or rubber is nice to have in the kitchen to don when frying food. Hair absorbs and holds odors and the dainty woman does not care to carry around with her the smell of cooking.

THE DIET OF THE ADDICT.
There are many kinds of dishes That have made a reputation. From New England, from the south-land, From all parts of the nation: Lobster Newburg, creole chicken, Gourmands over these may chirrup. But for me, just give me waffles Swimming in some maple syrup. Take our well-known friend Welsh Rarebit. With a smile some diners greet it, While a lot of other people You could never get to eat it. I, too, am a bit peculiar. For you'll always see me takin'. Every time that I can get 'em, Waffles, syrup, and some bacon. Now, of course, there is a reason. Or, at least, an indication, For a human being's notion Of a funny inclination: To keep me from eating waffles You would have to use a maul. For I love 'em. How I love 'em! They look like a cross-word puzzle!

No Fun in That.
"May I go to the movies, mother?"
"Why, Lester, you went to the movies yesterday, and you know we never let you go more than once a week."
"I know, but yesterday hadn't ought to count. That was an educational movie that teacher said we ought to see."

THE SOCIAL PRIMER.

The Maid of Honor.
This lady is the maid of honor; The duties that devolve upon her Are these: No matter what be- lie, She never should outshine the bride. She walks a-head and shows the way, Then holds the bride's six-foot bun-quet. And when the organ-ist plays Taps She and the best man both col-lapse.

The Rejected Suitor.
This fellow with the long-drawn face May seem a trifle out of place; But no; he is a bride's chief joy. He is the broken-hearted boy. He first shakes hands with bride and groom, Then stag-gers blindly from the room. But he'll not long in-dulge this whim. A bride-maid has her eye on him. —Jean Bigger.

In the Garden With Burbank

As Reported by Elizabeth Urquhart

Foreword from Mr. Burbank

This series of articles has been prepared by Mrs. Urquhart by my aid and permission for the benefit of all who may not know how to proceed in the delightful health giving pursuit of home gardening, and to relieve me of thousands of letters to which I have no time for reply.

IRIS.

We had been engrossed with the window-boxes that bulbs had been forgotten for the moment, and Mr. Burbank reminded me that nothing at all had been said about iris.

This interesting and beautiful family, of course, could not be passed over at it once asked if there were still time to plant any of them.

"It is too late for the European iris, which bloom in May and June," said Mr. Burbank, "but we might plant some Japanese and Siberian iris for midsummer blooming, and a little later when the spring iris have bloomed and it is time to move them, we can take up the subject again and make out next year's list."

"There are so many varieties that by a little care in selecting and planting one may have some of them in bloom the greatest part of the year."

"Is the cultivation of the Japanese iris the same as for the European iris?"

"No," said Mr. Burbank, "the European iris which includes the iris germanica and the Spanish, Dutch and English iris, all three of which really belong to the same family, always require a well-drained location with plenty of sun and not too much water except during the blooming season, but the Japanese and Siberian iris are water lovers and thrive best in wet, boggy beds and beside pools or streams, and sometimes are even planted in tubs or boxes sunk in the water."

"In Japan they are often planted out in the swampy rice fields."

"The beds might be sunk below the level of the garden then, as you suggested for canna, so as to retain the moisture?" I said.

"Yes," answered Mr. Burbank, "and like the canna, they want a very rich soil, heavily mulched with old manure, but as little lime as possible either in the water or the soil."

"The form of the flower is different from our 'flags,' and there are no yellow Japanese iris, I have noticed," I said.

"The petals are differently arranged," said Mr. Burbank, "where the European iris has three drooping petals or 'falls,' the Japanese iris has three almost horizontal petals, and the vertical petals or 'standards,' are smaller and lower."

"Some of the blossoms are very large and as you say, of every color but yellow. They also rejoice in some remarkable names which, perhaps, sound strange in translation than in the original. Such as 'dancing tiger,' 'enraged bear,' 'first frost' and 'boundless sea.'"

"Is the iris a good plant for the amateur to experiment with," Mr. Burbank?

"Surely any variety, whether European or Japanese, will afford good opportunity for hybridizing, if you are careful to study the structure of the blossoms so as to understand how nature intended to have it fertilized. The results of blending the different colors and crossing the different species will be of the greatest interest."

"My own experiments have been chiefly with the Japanese iris, heugata, and I raised great quantities of them at one time, planting them on an acre of damp ground on one of my experiment farms. The color combinations were wonderful and beautiful, and the forms as well, for there were both single and double flowers and in tubs or boxes sunk in the water."

"Did they vary so much because they had been transplanted?" I asked.

"No," the dwarf and giant forms grew side by side in the same soil and under the same conditions, so the variation came through the seed, from many different ancestors—Japanese, Korean, Chinese and perhaps Hindu, who knows?"

"Tomorrow—Iris and Tigrids."

"Some of the blossoms are very large and as you say, of every color but yellow. They also rejoice in some remarkable names which, perhaps, sound strange in translation than in the original. Such as 'dancing tiger,' 'enraged bear,' 'first frost' and 'boundless sea.'"

"Is the iris a good plant for the amateur to experiment with," Mr. Burbank?

"Surely any variety, whether European or Japanese, will afford good opportunity for hybridizing, if you are careful to study the structure of the blossoms so as to understand how nature intended to have it fertilized. The results of blending the different colors and crossing the different species will be of the greatest interest."

"My own experiments have been chiefly with the Japanese iris, heugata, and I raised great quantities of them at one time, planting them on an acre of damp ground on one of my experiment farms. The color combinations were wonderful and beautiful, and the forms as well, for there were both single and double flowers and in tubs or boxes sunk in the water."

"Did they vary so much because they had been transplanted?" I asked.

"No," the dwarf and giant forms grew side by side in the same soil and under the same conditions, so the variation came through the seed, from many different ancestors—Japanese, Korean, Chinese and perhaps Hindu, who knows?"

"The petals are differently arranged," said Mr. Burbank, "where the European iris has three drooping petals or 'falls,' the Japanese iris has three almost horizontal petals, and the vertical petals or 'standards,' are smaller and lower."

Little Cinderella

THE GODMOTHER'S ORDERS.

This is the end of the first week's picture story of "Cinderella." Children who cut out the pictures every day will soon have a whole set of "Cinderella" dolls. Watch for more of this story next week.

"Now run to the garden and get me a pumpkin," said the little old woman.

"But first let me see the mouse trap. If there are four fine, fat mice in it they will be of use."

Cinderella brought the mouse trap and sure enough there were just four mice in it. Then she hurried off to the garden and selected the biggest, roundest pumpkin she could find. Next she brought the rat trap, which contained one large rat, and the cat, which she called "Puss."

"Now," said the fairy godmother, "Cinderella wondered very much but she said nothing. She could not guess what this strange little old woman would do next."

(The pumpkin should be large, of course. Color the pumpkin orange, the lizards green, and the rat a darker shade of gray.)

POWER PLAN PROPOSED FOR TENNESSEE RIVER

Washington, May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Applications to build a large hydro-electric power dam on the Tennessee river, about 30 miles below the government plant at Muscle Shoals, designed to supply the power needs of Mississippi and western Tennessee, including Memphis, were filed today by the Mississippi Power company and the Muscle Shoals Hydro-Electric Power company.

The site proposed in the Mississippi power application is just below the mouth of Bear creek, on a short stretch of the river forming the boundary line between Mississippi and Alabama, and that in the other application is at Riverton, Ala., just below the mouth of the Colbert Shoals development, and it was understood that both of the applying companies are associate companies of the Alabama Power company, all being controlled by the Southern Power and Light company.

It was understood by the commission that there is no conflict between the two applications, the proposed sites being only about ten miles apart. It will remain for the commission to determine which site would be most advantageous from a navigation and power standpoint.

Both applications stressed the fact that the Tennessee river is a navigable waterway, and that the proposed dam would be a barrier to the navigation of the river.
